ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The SACES EL program fosters leadership and mentoring opportunities in counselor education and supervision in conjunction with visibility and inclusivity for members who identify with historically marginalized communities. SACES considers diversity broadly to include a myriad of cultural and social identities including, but not limited to, race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, social class, ability, and religion/spirituality. We welcome and strongly encourage candidates who identify with historically marginalized groups. We will be choosing twelve individuals to participate in this experience.

BENEFITS

1. Leadership Development

The program cultivates leadership skills in counselor education and supervision, empowering participants to advocate for change.

2. Mentoring Opportunities

Participants receive guidance from experienced professionals, aiding their professional and personal growth.

3. Visibility for Marginalized Communities

The program amplifies the voices and experiences of underrepresented groups, fostering recognition and respect.
